COMPANION OF CAMBRIA SILENT ABOUT SHOOTING

Fear of Death Fails to Induce Sam Camisra to Talk to Officers.

MURDER ECHO OF FEUD TO SIGN AND WILL EVACUATE TURACE

To Make Death Sure Slayer Stands Over Prostrate Body and Fire. Two Sons into Hand; Slave Man Smothering Pipe and Is Taken by Surprise.

No arrests had been made this afternoon of persons involved in the murder at 12:15 o'clock this morning at Main and Church streets. Uniontown of Angelo Cambria, an Italian who is said to operate a chain of restaurants, two of them being in Water street, Connellsville, and the shooting of Sam Camisra, 41, who is in the Union Hospital, who is in the Union Hospital.

Cambria and Camisra were said to have left the busy Bazaar restaurant, in which Cambria is said to have been interested a short time before the killing. Cambria was sauntering toward an automobile smoking a pipe. This was taken to indicate that the fatal shot took him by surprise. The arrival news of Dr. James O'Ward to the street of the support finding in his pocket or a revolver for which he had not had time to reach.

Camisra, who was walking with Cambria at the time, was first shot in the back. As he turned a bullet struck his hand. None of the wounds is dangerous. It was said at the hospital.

Hoping to get from Camisra some information as to the cause of the shooting, officers told him he would die.

"I should worry" was his response. He refused to talk about the battle. He was able today to sit up and read a newspaper account of the trouble. It was said Camisra was not armed.

From what can be gleaned in the news of the shooting, it is the result of a feud arising from the raising of a sum of $3,000 to $1,000 for the purpose of financing a legal battle for an Italian involved in a robbery at Waterbury and said to be a leader among the Italians. It was reported a part of the fund has not been satisfactorily accounted for.

Persons in the vicinity of the shooting were quoted as saying that 18 shots were fired. Officers were on the scene within a few minutes of the principals with the exception of the dead man and Cambria had disappeared.

It was said the quarrel started in the restaurant.

Cambria has a sister in Greensburg. Her husband was expected in town today to take charge of the body.

It was in a restaurant operated by Cambria in Water street that Charles Schengen was shot several months ago. No arrests were ever made in this case. Cambria had frequently been in Connellsville police court when he had his old law office. At that time he had his office at 100 Main street. He was well known in local Italian circles. He made his home in Water street.

Senator Vare Improved Today

By Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA Oct 12 — State Senator Edwin H. Vare, who is seriously ill, slept soundly through the night and as a result is believed to be somewhat improved.

He said that the senator did not awaken during the night as he had a good sign, said Congressman William J. Vare. "It looks very hopeful for his recovery."

Before leaving the Vare home yesterday his physicians declared the patient was passing from the senator's system more rapidly than was expected.

Firemen's Fair Again Postponed

Because of the cool, unsettled weather the firemen's fair at South Connellsville was again postponed to day until the night of October 26-27.

At that time the garage of S. D. Miller, where the fete is to be held, will be under roof and the weather will not interfere.

Hold on Suspense.

Two men are being held at the police station on a charge of being suspicious persons. They are believed to have stolen a watch from a pair of trousers hanging in a wash room at a Water street hotel. Both deny the charge.

Scarlet Fever Reported.

A case of scarlet fever on Arch street was reported to the board of health this morning. It is the first case of its kind in Connellsville.

Police Court Receipts $25.

Several small cases given by the Min. V. N. Smith, Vice President of the Knights of Columbus, were turned over to the church Friday. $100 was collected.

GRANDSON OF MRS. MILLIE MAY BE ITAMES SUICIDE

Baby Merton, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton of Uniontown, and a grandson of Mrs. May, wife of the Rev. W. S. May, of Connellsville, who has physicals ready to completely diagnose the illness of his case.

The illness resembles a form of rickets. The baby, however, is slightly improved.

PLACE OF SUPREME BLISS

Seventh Heaven Believed to Be the Abode of the Almighty and the Chief Angels.

The Seventh heaven is the highest of the seven sections of the highest Jewish Kabbalah, or mysticism, wherein dwelt the Almighty and the chief angels, hence a state of ecstasy or extreme bliss. In the opinion of the old Jewish mystics the seven heavens rise above another, like the steps of a mighty ladder. It is said that the space between the clouds and the earth; second, the region of the clouds; third, South, Sixth and Sixth, the abode of the Lord God and the Seraphim; Heaven, according to Dante, in the "Paradiso," begins from the top of Mount Purgatory and rises upward through the seven planetary spheres, the region of the fixed stars, and the "primus mobile," ranging gradually extending ever so high at the center, the sphere of "unholy light," the heaven of the heavens" at the center of which is the throne of God. Milton follows the same division in "Paradise Lost"—Chicago Journal.

Intended Compliment.

A clergyman was about to leave his church one evening when he encountered an old lady, examining the racing on the floor. Hearing her decries of seeing the winner of the church, he volunteered to show her over and the slender old lady much gratified at this unexpected offer of a personally conducted tour, she accepted it. By and by they came to a handsome tablet on the right of the pulpit. "That," explained the good woman, "is a memorial tablet erected to the memory of the late Rev. J. C. Fletcher." Through Baltimore & Ohio passenger trains Nos. 11 and 12, will be featured in the near future, according to an announcement made by John J. Cornwell, general counsel of the railroad company. The trains will be put on as good as engines and cars used in the service came through the shop, which Mr. Cornwell said should be within a few days.

Activity at Y. M. C. A.

O. M. Jarrett general chairman of the social committee of the Y. M. C. A. announces that the bowling alleys will be opened tonight at 7 o'clock. The alleys have been thoroughly overhauled and put into spic-and-span shape. Two sets of pins and some new balls have been added to the equipment. Last year the bowling at the Y. M. C. A. was one of the attractive features of the winter program. This year in view of the new equipment and the splendid shape which the alleys are now in, the association is looking forward to a bumper season. It is the ambition of Mr. Jarrett to form a church league during the next few weeks, also to form several other leagues. He is now working on the matter of formulating a committee to schedule the games and to apportion the various nights to the different organizations interested in bowling.

GOOD SOAP FOR LESS THAN TWO CENTS A POUND

Make It At Home By This Easy Process—Takes Less Than 30 Minutes.

Nowadays, more and more women are doing as their mothers did and are making their own soap. If you have never tried it, you will be surprised to see how easy it is to make good soap. Soft soap, hard soap or lye soap, just by using kitchen utensils and a wavy griddle together with a can of Merry War Lye, the safe and sure soapmaker.

In the old days when soap was made by the boiling process it took nearly all day to make a kettle of soap. Now it is hardly any work at all—requires no boiling—takes less than 30 minutes. Saves you money and gives you all the pure, clean soap you need for kitchen, laundry and all household purposes.

You will find simple directions for soapmaking on the label of every can of Merry War Lye—also many other recipes such as how to make lye hominy, how to soften water, how to brighten cooking utensils, etc.

Merry War Lye is also a wonderful cleaner and purifier for use about the home, barn, chicken house and outbuildings. Comes in a convenient can with revolving sifting top that cannot come off, cannot get lost, recloses tightly and preserves contents.

Ask your dealer for Merry War Lye—be sure you get "Merry War"—the lye that has made good for 38 years.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 12, 1922

OWE OUR VISITORS A CORDIAL RECEPTION.

While the visits of distinguished citizens, of the state to this section in the interests of the election of the Republican ticket on November 7, more than indicated the success of any or all of the candidates.

For the first time in the history of the state voters are to be called upon to select the state's full representation in both houses of the National Legislature. Senator Pepper appointed as successor of Senator Porose and Senator Reed appointed as successor of Senator Gow, are candidates for the full six-year term and the terms of all the members of the House of Representatives expire March 4 next. This fact makes the election of even greater importance to the voters than the election of a president. The great state of Pennsylvania has always been the backbone in the arch of our national government, hence the men who are sent to Washington as members of both houses of Congress must stand for those things which have earned for our state the proud distinction it has so long enjoyed.

Of less importance is the determination of vital issues affecting the state administration and particularly the preservation intact of our system of popular education which has been one of the chief instruments in qualifying Pennsylvania boys to attain to leadership in all fields of human activity in the state and nation.

For these reasons alone tomorrow's visit of Gifford Pinchot, candidate for governor, Colonel David J. Davis, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Congressman Kendall, candidate for re-election, Guy W. Brown, candidate for State Senator, and other members of the party, should have an interest for every voter of both sexes in Connellsville and the whole northern section of Fayette county. The visitors should be greeted by a truly representative gathering to hear a brief and pointed presentation of the salient issues of the campaign. We owe our visitors a cordial reception not only as proof of our hospitality and courtesy to guests but to show that we are keenly alive to the necessity of preserving for our state the heritages bequeathed to it by the famous leaders who spent almost the whole of their lives in its service.

TREASURY SAVINGS CERTIFICATES AND WILDCAT STOCKS.

It is significant of the growth of the saving habit of our people that the demand for Treasury Savings Certificates, even at the new and advanced prices, is constantly increasing. All classes of thrifty persons are becoming owners of these certificates as a means of systematic saving.

Between January 1 and September 30 of the present year approximately $120,000,000 worth of certificates have been placed in the hands of the people. This is in addition to other issues of Treasury Notes and Treasury Certificates, which have been very popular every time they were placed on the market.

In issuing this form of investment security the aim of the Treasury Department is to provide means to systematic saving incite investment for the people and to give an opportunity to the vast number of Savings Stamps Holders of the series of 1918, for re-investing the principal and interest due on January 1, 1923 in new Treasury Savings Certificates which are of the same general character, and carry the same appeal to the needs of small investors as the old securities.

Beside these bonds and certificates already redeemed or refunded an enormous volume of securities is about to fall due to meet which the Treasury Department has prepared a sound plan explained by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as follows:

The maturities which remain and have to be refunded the Treasury will meet through issues of refunding securities properly adjusted to rule the market conditions and I believe it will be able to meet them as it has in the past without disturbance on the financial markets.

Treasury Savings Certificates are in line with the rates on outstanding securities which are adapted to a general level. Being constituted a sale at local post offices banks the Treasury Dept.

and at the Federal Reserve banks they are particularly convenient and attractive to persons who can make comparatively small investments from month to month.

They are absolutely safe bearing four per cent interest compounded semi-annually and held in maturity which is five years from date of purchase and about 1.125 per cent simple interest if it is carried beyond the maturity date. They are exempt from state and local taxation except state and inheritance taxes and from the normal federal income tax. They are issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 and are sold on a discount basis at face value of $20.70, $55.20 and $520 respectively. The interest accumulates. They are redeemable no later than maturity date at $25.00, $100 and $1,000 respectively.

In these days of the present situation of uncertainty in world stock markets who profits extravagantly in dividends the citizen who has any money to invest in either stocks or in annuities can avoid all danger of loss, if he does not take advantage of the opportunities in our governments oil in the line of its security and return to its investment. The voter here has his right to defend his principal with a good dividend instead of losing it but a rapidly print paper which is without value it is hard to handle.

Mr. Pinchot Replies

Barrel 1000 ft. 11 bushels

When Pinchot speaks it is with a punch.

His reply to McSparran's assertion that if elected he would do no support in the Legislature was the announcement of the names of a long list of Republican candidates who have endorsed his platform first to last.

This is the kind of talk that the voters like to hear.

It seems Mr. Pinchot will go into the executive office with no real support in House and Senate. It seems that he is not a strong leader in the business world, but that he has taken a platform, placed himself and taken every man in his power to make him come true.

McSparran takes it in stride. Pinchot speaks to the point. The Republican candidate cannot be expected to attempt to reply to all the fool ravings of his Democratic opponent but when the Democratic name means anything that might be open to misunderstanding, it is well and proper for Pinchot to answer and put it in a manner that leaves no room for further doubt.

Mr. Pinchot very wisely has refrained from paying any attention to McSparran except when it becomes necessary to clear up some statement. He has rightly refused the public mind as being too soon interested in what Mr. Pinchot is and will do in what McSparran is or is not. McSparran is do nothing. Pinchot is constructive. McSparran was hand picked by a little group of actual Democrats. In him was nominated by the people. McSparran will lose none of his weight. That is all there is to it.

Moava Quickly Defeats Deadly Pyorrhoea Germs

Proves Moava Treatment Makes Invisible, Despondent Pyorrhœa Sufferers Well and Happy in Short Time.

Here is the sure way to get rid of pyorrhœa with all its disgusting symptoms—bad teeth and bleeding, pus discharging gums.

To your druggist today ask for a tube of Moava Dental Cream and use it every morning and evening. Instantly you will feel the effect as it is penetrating, antiseptic properties are carried into the crevices and pockets where the Pyorrhœa germs are thriving.

Two or three applications of the cream will stop discharging pus, bleeding or receding and the entire mouth and oral cavity will feel cleaner and taste sweet.

Moava is surely creating a sensation among dentists and people who for years have suffered humiliation caused by ugly teeth and gums.

Moava is no ordinary tooth paste. It is the result of several years careful study and experiment, and so well does it bring relief and stop the progress of the disease that dentists, physicians and pharmacists are simply amazed. Get a tube of Moava Dental Cream today. You'll make no mistake.

If you really are a sufferer from Pyorrhœa or Biggs Disease you have suffered long enough. A treatment tested that would put an end to your troubles. Moava Dental Cream is just such a treatment. Connellsville Drug Co. can supply you.—Advertisement.

WARNING SOUNDED OF ANOTHER COAL STRIKE NEXT APRIL

Certain Conditions Must Be Remedied, Mining Congress Is Told.

OPERATORS ARE AT ODDS

By Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—Warning that another coal strike is inevitable April 1, 1923, unless certain conditions are removed; a sharp divergence of opinion between union and non-union operators over local policies and a manufacturer telling the mining industry to organize its household for self-examination, self-expression and self-government, marked the third day's session Wednesday of the American miners congress, devoted to intensive study of problems confronting the bituminous industry.

A resolution was introduced asking the Congress to declare as its principles:

"That all disputes directly affecting the public interests which may not be settled by mutual agreement, shall be determined by judicial process."

"That any act, in combination with others, which would be unlawful if done by an individual shall be unlawful on the part of all those to take part collectively and individually, all of whom shall be liable to damages to the party injured thereby."

"That every agreement, order, determination or conclusion by two or more persons which, if carried out, would be in restraint of trade, increase the cost or restrict the production of any article of commerce, to public injury, shall be declared unlawful, and that each and every person organization or combination guilty should be properly penalized."

The resolution was presented by C. E. Maurer of Cleveland, coal operator and long a member of committees negotiating with the United Mine Workers. It was predicted next April would find the coal price as low as last April and the miners' union firmly refusing to take any reduction in wages without a fight.

"You can't delay this thing and have John Lewis shut down your mines or you will lose control of your property," Maurer declared, referring to the possible shutdown of coal mines next April. "Before next March the public must know whether you are going to have a contract or whether you are going to repeat what you did last year—and they are never going to permit you to repeat it."

Glad He Picked This Stomach Remedy

Puts Stomach In Fine Condition—Ends Dizzy Spells, Nervousness, Headaches and Makes You Sleep Well.

Indigestion eating causes acute indigestion and acidity, heartburn and stomach cramps. Indigestion causes the dreadful feeling of near suffocation.

It's worth something to know of a remedy that can stop this distress on a few minutes—quicker than anything else you can think of.

This is our common stomach remedy for it took years of time to combine the best of all the various acids that make Davis' Mentha. It is so good that the worst cases of indigestion and gastritis and other chronic stomach ailments are speedily overcome and the most badly deranged stomachs are made clean, strong and healthy.

Mr. Cainin DAVIS of Allentown, N. J., a man of few words, knows this for he himself suffers from most of an old stomach condition and the stomach vital Davis' Mentha Peppermint.

Rate of Increase Slightly Less Than Preceding Week But Conditions are Better

Merchant Operators Take Leadership in the Improvement Gain.

MORE PLANTS AND OVENS

Are Brought Into Service, Including Plant of W. J. Rainey, Inc., One of First to Feel Effects of the Strike; Car Situation Not Good.

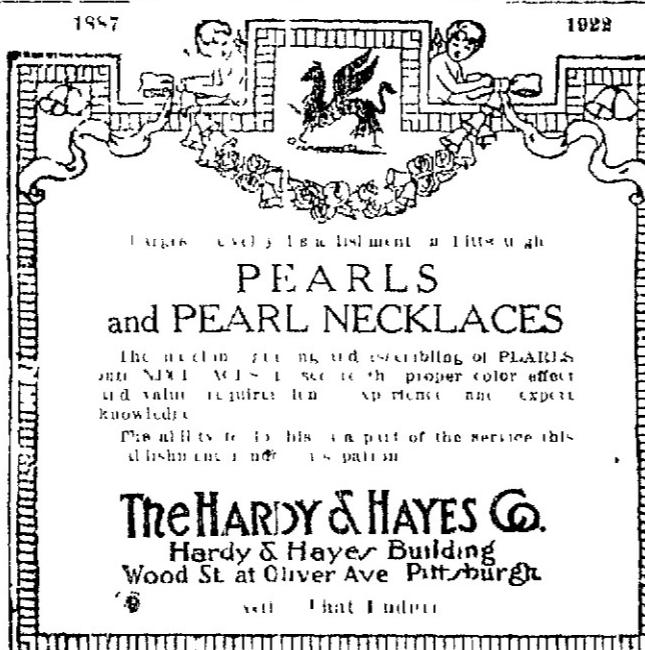

From The Weekly Courier
The rate of increase in coke production last week did not measure up to that of the week preceding but the record was of such a character as to lead substantial encouragement to the hope of merchant furnaces and other consumers that the supply is on the way to become more plentiful. In the interests of exact truth it must be said that this situation at cannot be taken without some qualification, such as for instance as if or when the car supply and transportation service becomes more satisfactory.

The outstanding feature of the week was the advance to leadership in the coke improvement on part of the merchant producers. They have been rather slow to make a start in the direction of resumption, primarily because they were harder hit by the strike than the leading furnace interest and, secondarily, because of the more or less general willingness to "Let George do it" in the matter of breaking the hold the sympathetic strike had fastened upon the region.

Since the revival of activity at the independent operations began in earnest several weeks ago, the effect has been to give new courage to others in the ranks and from week to week additional plants and ovens have been brought into operation. The best record in this respect was made last week when three long idle plants—one being Allison No 1 of W. J. Rainey interests, one of the first to resume operations on account of the strike—and a total of 409 independent ovens were placed in commission. Indeed, already the H. C. Frick Coke Company took another forward step in bringing 201 additional ovens into production, making its active total 7,834, or 1,178 more than it had in operation when the strike broke.

The gain of 7,670 tons last week advanced the regional tonnage to 126,360 which is but 23,610 tons short of the year's record production made during the week ended April 1. If the present rate of gain is continued for another three weeks the region will be back to the pre-strike normal and should the somewhat improbable event of the car situation showing improvement meantime the production will very considerably exceed that of any single week during the past 16 months.

Increase of 7,620 tons or a little over 7,700 tons a week is reflected in an increase of 33.30 to 21,490 tons in the week ending September 10, 1922, as compared with gains of 9,011 and 4,940 tons respectively during the preceding week.

By increasing the production of 9,108 a gain of 8,611, incising 5,250, a gain of 6,811 tons as compared with gains of 9,011 and 4,940 tons respectively during the preceding week.

The record increase of 7,620 tons was reflected in the additions at merchant plants adding 267 and the merchant plants 469. Of the former the H. C. CONGRESS SEATS ARE IMPORTANT

This State Should Send Solid Delegation to Washington.

RETURN MEMBERS GOOD RULE

If Party Followed Tradition of Other States and Elected Congressmen Term After Term Prestige of Commonwealth Would be Greatly Enhanced.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Latest reports from canvasses in Pennsylvania, especially in the congressional districts, swayed politically by the rail and mine strikes, show that the voters are realizing as the November election approaches that continued prosperity depends upon continued Republican supremacy in the nation and state. Especially are the voters seeing that defeat of members of Congress will work to their detriment by encouraging the Democrats in the presidential contest in 1924.

Early reports, following a few weeks after the settlement of the rail and mine strikes, showed that some of the voters intended visiting their districts for the industrial disorders on the Republican party. Sure that time, the atmosphere has cleared and the voters are seeing clearly through the smoke screen, emitted by the opposition. They are saying that "Republican control of Congress means prosperity for the workingman and good times." Of course, disaffection which arises quickly and lingers long at times is not entirely from the minds of the voters in those Congressional districts where depression was rampant for many months during the coal strike. This is only natural and therefore the voter believing in Republican principles owes it to himself and his own interests to aid the parts workers in those districts to blot out the false impression and show by sane reasoning that the national administration was not responsible for last summer's ill.

COLONEL DAVID J. DAVIS

Should Return Members.

It must be fully realized that hard work is essential to complete success in the Congressional elections. Pennsylvania, the greatest Republican state in the Union, does not have the prestige in national affairs that her political strength and tax paying power entitle her. And why is this? It is because the party has not followed the tradition of the New England commonwealth. Massachusetts, and consistently returned members of Congress for years, until working under the seniority succession rule in Congress, its members are the leaders. Massachusetts today has the leader of the Senate, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge; the Speaker of the House, and the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee. She is in a commanding position in legislation. Pennsylvania won no distinction through this principle, by electing Senator Penrose, until in time he became chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee. Today her place in national legislation is not so strong. Therefore, the continuance of the same members in Congress so that in time they may become heads of important committees should be the watchword of all Pennsylvania Republicans. If Republican members

MOTHER!

Your Child's Bowels Need "California Fig Syrup"

Slurpy mother! Even a sick child loves the "slurpy" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open up bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has old colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath foul, remember a good cleansing or little bowls are often all that is necessary.

defended this year, the prestige they have gained will be lost and new members must take their places at the end of committee assignments. Few voters think of this, but it is the thing the voters should always have in mind.

"Return the Republican incumbents, strengthen the Republican party in national legislation, and in party councils," said Representative George S. Graham. "Then the great principles of the Republican party will be safeguarded and the country assured of moving forward on its industrial expansion era."

"There are some bad spots in Pennsylvania, but these are not permanent," added Mr. Graham, "and I believe that the November election will show Pennsylvania has not suffered in her Republicanism."

Achievement Not Equalled.

Mr. Graham points to the record of the Republican party in the year and a half of the Harding administration. It is an achievement not equalled by any previous administration: reduction of taxation, elimination of unnecessary civilian employees, limitation of armaments, restriction of immigration to protect American workmen from competition of aliens, and a tariff law protecting American skill and American industry. The record of the Congress has been so great and varied as to challenge study and critical analysis. It has now been written into law and these laws are operating to the benefit of American voters. This fallow is a credit to the nation today, the first time in her history, and the only big nation in such a position. It is free from war or threats of war, while the other great nations are involved in continued war debts and forced to maintain heavy armaments to prevent wars threatening.

Inherited a Burden.

When the Republican party came into power on March 4, 1921, it inherited as a partial legacy resulting from the folly, gross inefficiency and maladministration of the Democratic party the following:

A public debt of $24,000,000,000.

Industries at a standstill and 5,000,000 workers out of employment.

The farming and live stock industries facing ruin.

Thousands of cruelly neglected service men.

Improperly protected foreign loans amounting to over $11,000,000,000., the repayment of which the Democratic Administration was endeavoring to indefinitely postpone, and even looking toward their ultimate cancellation.

The chaotic wreck of a shipbuilding venture costing the people of this nation over $1,000,000,000.

Liberty bonds selling for 85 cents on the dollar.

A disastrous revenue system in operation, and the doors of our country open to the trade and slave labor of the world.

An unnecessary personnel in the Army, Navy and the Federal Government.

Our participation in the great World War cannot justly be advanced as a legal explanation or excuse for such a deplorable situation. The fruits of war are always bitter and the cost burdened heavy and severe for many years following, but the innumerable wastes, inefficiencies, and non-sensical procedure during the Democratic party's eight years in office should not and cannot now be excused with a month of silence under the guise of war.

A moment's folly will oftentimes upset the hard and faithful endeavors of years of toil and sacrifice. On March 4, 1921, Republican leadership, ingenuity and resource faced the necessity of checking and correcting not the folly of a moment's passion or unthoughtfulness, but rather the innumerable blunders and errors, unwittingly or unwillingly made during the eight long years of Democratic party control of the National Government.

That the people of this Nation did not err in placing their confidence and faith in the Republican party is evidenced by the record of its achievements during the brief period of its exclusive control of all departments of the Government.

The public debt has been reduced by over $10,000,000,000 and public expenditures have been reduced by over one and a half billion dollars.

Confidence has been restored in industrial circles; and notwithstanding handicaps imposed by the coal and railroad difficulties, the wheels of industry are turning with ever increasing momentum and the vast army of unemployed has been reduced to a minimum.

Benefit of All People.

Legislation enacted for the benefit of the entire people during the session of Congress just closed may be mentioned in the following:

The Budget system, clearing and restricting wastes, duplication, and needless spending of the various departments of the Government.

The peace resolution, permitting the re-establishment of normal peace relations with China and Austria.

The disarmament conference agreement—going away with the international race in the manufacture of implements of war, though lighting the way toward an international agreement completing the greatest single move ever made toward the ultimate establishment of lasting peace among the nations.

The Veterans Bureau, not precluding proper care and hospital treatment to all disabled or otherwise injured ex-service men.

A law against for the investigation and prosecution of war frauds.

The Federal highway act—in the interest of good roads and of direct benefit to the farmer and the American people as a whole.

The maternity and infant act—providing for the conservation of the greatest natural resources.

The anti-gambling in games of chance—regulating the transactions of gambling houses and the prevention of gambling houses and disease houses affecting the prices of grain and foodstuffs.

The Fortune-McCumber Tariff Act, during the intervening period between November 1, 1919, and May 27, 1921, the day the Republican emergency tariff was signed, and May 27, 1921, the day the Republican emergency tariff was repealed, had 10,000,000 bushels of wheat, $8,000,000 bushels of wheat, 135,000,000 pounds of beef and mutton, and 525,000,000 pounds of wool were imported from foreign countries. American miners and live stock interests were facing ruin until the passage of this act.

The Springtime McCumber Tariff Act, during the intervening period between November 1, 1919, and May 27, 1921, the day the Republican emergency tariff was signed, and May 27, 1921, the day the Republican emergency tariff was repealed, had 10,000,000 bushels of wheat, $8,000,000 bushels of wheat, 135,000,000 pounds of beef and mutton, and 525,000,000 pounds of wool were imported from foreign countries. SOLDIER DRUGGIST COMES BACK

Mt. Washington Pharmacist Tried Everything to Bring Back Pre-War Strength and Pep Until He Tried Preparation He Was Selling Daily.

Howard R. McAlpin of 1215 Grandview Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., prominent pharmacist, came out of the War a shadow of his former self. He pointed that many sufferers who were recuperating at his store gave up hope, but the Doctor's Tonic he sold them aided in his recovery.

"There are some bad spots in Pennsylvania, but these are not permanent," added Mr. Graham, "and I believe that the November election will show Pennsylvania has not suffered in her Republicanism."

"I used Todd's Tonic because I needed a good reconstructive tonic. My rating was as follows. I digest my food and am eating much better after having taken only two bottles and am gaining weight. All my old time strength and vigor have come back and I feel like a man. I sleep well at night and never have that tired, wornout feeling."

Todd's Tonic made from medicinal ingredients well known for their power to purify and enrich the blood, relieve indigestion, liver and bowel troubles, and to stimulate and tone the body.

REAL HOME IN THE TROPICS

In Some Regions in Tropic Zone There Are as Many as 200 Days in the Year on Which Thunderstorms Occur—Pacific Coast of United States Almost Free of Thunderstorms, While Near the Poles They Are Unknown—Science Tries to Explain.

When thunder showers are breaking up frequent intervals over the most thickly settled portions of the United States, bringing their relief from sweltering temperatures, it is doubtless these disturbances are taken as matters of course on the summer weather menu, irrespective of locality. But the world has its "blind spots" for thunder and lightning according to a bulletin issued from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Our own experiences in the temperate zone and the literature with which we are most familiar probably tell us of the tendency of thunderstorms to give us the impression that thunder and lightning are more or less widespread phenomena," says the bulletin. "Zeiss began foraging his thunder-bolts and searching them about the Mediterranean region with the dawn of time and further north in Europe Thor was equipped with the same instinct. Don't let me catch you again, there is even a legend to the effect that Thor is the god of thunder."

Mr. Thurston: Old Guzzie's been drinking like a fish ever since the country went dry.

Mr. Wetmore: Put me next. Where does he get it?

Mr. Thurston: From the same source where the fish gets his drink.

Hoping.

If I am ever in Africa, three, even after seven, I hope that there will be no expedition in heat.

Progress.

North—Do you think infants are born with original sin?

West: No; but they're sullied up with considerable war debt.

Just So.

"How about an striking point?"

"An striking point is all right if a man is willing to scratch for a living."

A Heavy Burden.

Ethel: Still carries her age well, doesn't she?

Chris: Yes, I'm a wonder she doesn't grow tired of the burden.

Poor Chance for Her.

He: What would your father do if I told him I wanted to marry you?

She: He'd refer the matter to me.

He: Oh, probably. And what would you do?

She: I'd refer the matter to Mr. Snark, who proposed to me and was accepted while you were trying to make up your mind.

Blind Spots In United States.

"There are virtual blind spots for thunder and lightning even in the United States, particularly along the Pacific coast. The extremes are Tampa, Fla., with an average of more than 90 thunderstorms a year, and San Francisco, with an average of less than one such storm a year. At no place along the Pacific coast do more than three or four thunderstorms occur per year."

"Though lightning, perhaps next to the rising sun and the wind, must have been one of the earliest manifestations of nature to man, it was not until recently that an apparently satisfactory explanation was evolved in regard to its origin and what takes place during the dash. It was long held that lightning was the discharge of 'normal atmospheric electricity' which exists in the air, becomes concentrated in clouds, suddenly finds a path to the earth, and breaks a hole in a neighboring cloud or opposite potential or to the earth. Some recent laboratory experiments seem to show that the mysterious ion plays a major role in the production of lightning. According to this theory, air, rising rapidly through falling rain, breaks the drops into small particles, a process which sets free an excess of negative ions. These are carried aloft with the rising spray while the positive ions are left below. Eventually the accumulated negative charge in the upper portion of the clouds breaks its way to the positively charged lower cloud or to the ground, creating a path to the earth."

At the TheatresTHE SOISSON.

"AM THE LAW," the leading picture at this theatre today, Friday and Saturday, presents Alice Lake, Kenneth Harlan, and other well known screen stars in interesting roles. Brimful of action, sparkling with scenes of wondrous splendor, and enacted by an all-star cast that bids fair to rank with the greatest aggregations of movie stars ever assembled, "Am the Law" tells the story of the northland—the country north of 54 degrees latitude where it's 50 odd below, where the wastelands of civilization harbor a law of their own—there in that region of blotted hopes and blighted morality is placed the setting of a gripping story that will hold you enthralled as it has held thousands of others.

With its awe-inspiring scenes set in the land made famous by the poems of Robert Service, "Am the Law" tells the story of brother against brother—of blood kinship turned to frenzied hate—of the fury of the indomitable power of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police—of the snow-tracks—the man, the woman and retribution—all depicted in a blizzard of emotions, of remarkable acting, of red-blooded plot and breath-taking action.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE MAN UNDER COVER," featuring Herbert Rawlinson, is the leading attraction today at this theatre. Not every day in the year is there a chance to see a picture like "The Man Under Cover," the Universal special attraction. It is a story of crooks written by a man who has rubbed elbows with them for 15 years. He is Louis Victor Ettinger, a "lifer" in the Arizona state prison. He gathered his material at close range and told a story that has a vital message. Herbert Rawlinson's athletic ability and smiling personality mark him as just the type for a crook picture star, for who could conceive of a dashing, clever crook as being anything but agreeable in personality? Opposite Rawlinson Barbara Bedford contributes another to her many characterizations, as the heroine of the story. She is a sweet heroine, still managing a smile when her brother, her "best friend" and her sweetheart all turn out to be dyed-in-the-wool crooks. George Hernandez, George Webb, William Courtwright, Willis Marks, Edward Tilton and Gerald Pring handle other important parts.

Tomorrow and Saturday "The Vengeance Trail," starring Will Rogers, will be shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THREE LIVE GHOSTS," showing today at this theatre, is a Paramount picture, featuring an all-star cast. Three busters, Billy Foster, an American; Jimmy Gubbins, a cockney, and "Snoopy," a shell-shocked soldier whose mind is a blank, escape from a German prison and return to England as stowaways on Armistice night. Jimmy's mother and Topay Woofers, his sweetheart, mourn him as dead. The three pals make an exciting getaway from the vessel and go to London. Iris Ayers, an American girl, is entertaining wounded soldiers at her London home. Passing her house as she sings, Billy recognizes it as that of his sweetheart in America. He climbs to a window ledge and sees Iris enter the library, followed by Peter Lorne, and when the latter forces his attention on Iris, Billy jumps into the room and Iris recognizes him. Lorne and Billy enter another room and the former offers Billy a large sum to go away and remain dead. The two have a dispute and Lorne tries to shoot Billy, but is himself shot. Billy escapes with proofs of Lorne's villainy with which he himself had been accused and makes his escape as the door is locked down.

Friday and Saturday Jack Holt will appear in "The Call of the North."

With its awe-inspiring scenes set in the land made famous by the poems of Robert Service, "Am the Law" tells the story of brother against brother—of blood kinship turned to frenzied hate—of the fury of the indomitable power of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police—of the snow-tracks—the man, the woman and retribution—all depicted in a blizzard of emotions, of remarkable acting, of red-blooded plot and breath-taking action.

THE PARAGON.

"THE MAN UNDER COVER," featuring Herbert Rawlinson, is the leading attraction today at this theatre. Not every day in the year is there a chance to see a picture like "The Man Under Cover," the Universal special attraction. It is a story of crooks written by a man who has rubbed elbows with them for 15 years. He is Louis Victor Ettinger, a "lifer" in the Arizona state prison. He gathered his material at close range and told a story that has a vital message. Herbert Rawlinson's athletic ability and smiling personality mark him as just the type for a crook picture star, for who could conceive of a dashing, clever crook as being anything but agreeable in personality? Opposite Rawlinson Barbara Bedford contributes another to her many characterizations, as the heroine of the story. She is a sweet heroine, still managing a smile when her brother, her "best friend" and her sweetheart all turn out to be dyed-in-the-wool crooks. George Hernandez, George Webb, William Courtwright, Willis Marks, Edward Tilton and Gerald Pring handle other important parts.

Tomorrow and Saturday "The Vengeance Trail," starring Will Rogers, will be shown.

RECOVERY IN RATE INGOT PRODUCTION HAS BEEN VERY RAPID

Consumers Short of Supplies Because Mills Cannot Ship Freely; Prices Show No Disposition to Change.

Special to The Weekly Courier NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Steel ingot production was at an average rate of 33,000,000 tons a year in September, against averages of 30,000,000 tons for August and 36,000,000 tons for July. As production was decreasing sharply during August the rate at the close of the month was relatively low, and the recovery since then has been very rapid. The present rate is probably above the 36,500,000 ton rate shown for June, the highest rate reported for the year. The deficit in production meanwhile, from the June rate, is only about one week's production at the present or the June rate. This could not produce any scarcity of steel, particularly as production earlier in the year probably included some steel desired by buyers as insurance against a stoppage.

Many consumers of steel, however, are short because while the mills can now make steel with relative ease they cannot ship freely. There are already some fairly large accumulations of steel at mill, urgently wanted by the consumers against whose orders it was made.

Less steel will be needed during the winter than is needed now, hence the anxiety of consumers. Mills are quite disposed to pile steel freely as they did during the transportation disability of 1920, and curtailment of production by reason of steel accumulations, old stores and more feet. All druggists, 35c, 60c, $1.00, $3.00, $5.00. —Advertisement

There are now approximately 16,000 practitioners, more than a hundred schools and about 10,000 students.

Twenty-one state governments have recognized the science as distinct and different from anything else on earth.

This growth in less than seventeen years has been, not only without the aid of other professions, engaged in getting the sick well, but in spite of their utmost efforts to prevent.

Chiropractic has never had a single dollar of endowment from state or national governments. It has overcome the prejudice of the public, the opposition of other professions intent on the extermination, and adverse laws in every state in the Union.

It has recruited its patients from among those upon whom other methods failed and with these failures of other methods upon which to prove its efficiency, it has grown like a green bay tree.

High School Football Horizon Brightening; Pierce Back in Line

McCormick, Who Had Been
"On the Fence," Will Also Return.

HARD GAME SATURDAY

By James M. Driscoll

The cloud which has darkened the High School football horizon in Connellsville is clearing and the hopes of a victory over Washington on Saturday are increasing accordingly. Coach Wine was informed yesterday by Merle Pierce, one of the line candidates who walked from the field on Tuesday evening, that he would be out in uniform this afternoon.

Another player concerning whom various reports have been circulated—"Mickey" McCormick—will also be out for practice today, he told Coach Wine yesterday. McCormick had not announced his definite intention of quitting the team, but he was known to be on the fence. As a result one rumor concerning his decision followed another. He was not among the five who quit Tuesday evening, but on hearing of their action did not report.

The fact that Pierce and McCormick, two of the biggest men on the team and relatively strong in their positions, are once more in the fold is especially gratifying to those persons who have a deep interest in High School affairs. It will also have its effect on the morale of the team which, to a certain point, has become disheartened. In returning, Pierce has shown the right spirit and is demonstrating that above all loyalty to the school which he attends is the big thing. Both he and "Mickey" have influence with the team and their efforts if properly directed, are of great assistance to the coach and captain.

Since the opening of the season the dope on High School has favored it as one of the best teams in its history. Then on the verge of seeing this accomplished, to have all opportunities wrecked by the stubborn tactics of the players themselves, came as a blow.

"He is showing his real stuff now, it was said of Pierce.

The Toledo football team has continued its regular daily workouts this week although no further games have been announced. Coach Jones finds it is no easy matter to find opponents willing to stand up against his husky warriors and further discovers that those who may be willing to take a chance desire more than even a generous pay.

Coach Wine will have a new system of defense in use Saturday. It will take strong resistance to stop the Washingtonians. The visiting team is anticipating trouble in Connellsville being somewhat impressed by the fact that the score in Johnstown was only 7-0.

There are lots of youths in High School with the ability to play football who have never reported on a gridiron. It is almost a duty of such fellows to get some sort of togs and report to Coach Wine. Among them may be discovered a star who will add great strength to the team.

BOWEL INDIGESTION RELIEVED QUICKLY

New York Woman Warns
Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules.

I have taken your Little Wonder capsules and want to express my appreciation to you for the wonderful results that I have so far obtained. I have been suffering from indigestion of the bowel for a long time. Since taking these wonderful capsules my appetite has increased and assimilation of the food that I take seems to be perfect.

This is an exact copy of a letter written by Mrs. Louise M. Brumling of 255 W. 53rd St., New York City, praising Jacques' Little Wonder capsules.

Jacques' Little Wonder capsules contain a number of standard medicines known to be correctives in treating certain gastric and intestinal disturbances. A single capsule is directed to the stomach, intestines, and bowels in mild and acute cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation.

FLIES TO GOLF MEET

Golfer Joe Kirkwood of Australia rolled over in bed while in Chicago not long ago, winked a couple of times and remarked: "Bilme, I've a golf engagement at Dayton, O. Ah! the taxi cub."

So he called a chauffeur, who told him he could not get him to Dayton, O., in time for a one o'clock golf engagement, as advised owing to the speed laws.

Kirkwood stood perplexed. The idea of the airplane struck him.

"How much?" he said to the pilot.

"One hundred dollars an hour, with the pilot."

"How long?"

"Oh, a couple of hours."

"Let's go," said Kirkwood and they went.

JONES SEES PROMISE OF OFFENSIVE GAME

Yale Coach Discusses New Gridiron Rule Changes.

Particularly pleased with Regulation
Regarding Substitutions—Player is Seldom Removed Because of Exhaustion

Tad Jones, Yale football coach, differs from many of the leading coaches in the country on the rule prohibiting a player taken from the game to return to it in the half in which he is removed. He likes the rule.

"I am very much pleased with the recent changes," he said, "particularly that applying to substitutions. The idea that the rule just changed has made the game safer is in my judgment erroneous. It is seldom that a man is removed from a game for physical reasons. Seldom, if ever, is it necessary to remove a man because of exhaustion."

"In case of exhaustion or serious injury, it should be made absolutely impossible for a coach to send his man back into the game. I am sure that the rule just changed has made the game safer in my judgment erroneous. It is seldom that a man is removed from a game for physical reasons. Seldom, if ever, is it necessary to remove a man because of exhaustion."

"She had no friends here, no money. She knew Rojas was trailing her. This talk I had with her was at the railroad station, where all was bustle and confusion. No one noticed us; so I thought. I advised her to remove the disguise of a man before she left the waiting room. And I got a boy to guide me. But he fetched her to this house. I had promised to come in the evening to talk over the situation with her."

"I found her, Dick, and when I saw her—I went stark staring, biting mad over her. She is the most beautiful, wonderful girl I ever saw. Her name is Mercedes Castaneda, and she belongs to one of the old wealthy Spanish families. She has lived abroad and in Havana. She speaks French as well as English. She is—but I must be brief."

"Dick, think! With Mercedes also it was love at first sight. My plan is to marry her and get her farther to the interior, away from the border. It may not be easy. She's watched. So am I. Rojas must have seen us. To my friends here—yesterday his gang of cut-throat rebels arrived, and today he came. When I learned that I took my chance and left camp. I hunted up a priest. He promised to come here. It's time he's due. But I'm afraid he'll be stopped. You see, we're over the line."

"And we in Mexican territory now?" queried Gale, sharply.

"I guess yes, old boy. That's what complicates it. Below and his rebels have Casita in their hands. If Mercedes is really watched—if her identity is known, which I am sure is the case—we couldn't get far from this house before I'd be killed and she seized."

"Good heavens! Thorne, can that sort of thing happen less than a month's throw from the United States line?" asked Gale, incredulously.

"It can happen and don't you forget it. You don't seem to realize the power these guerrilla leaders, these rebel captains, and particularly those bandits, exercise over the mass of Mexicans. I've seen Rojas. He's a handsome, bold, sneering devil, wiser than any peacock. He decks himself in gold lace and silver trappings, in all the finery he can steal. He spends gold like he spills blood. But he is chiefly famous for abducting women. The poor girls consider it an honor to be ridden off with. Rojas has shown a penchant for girls of better class."

Thorne wiped the perspiration from his pale face and bent at dark glass out of the window before he resumed his talk.

"Consider what the position of Mercedes really is. Rojas can turn all the hidden underground influences to his ends. Unless I thwart him he'll get Mercedes as easily as he can light a cigarette. But if kill him or some of his gang or her before I let him get her . . . This is the situation, old friend. I've little time to spare. Face arrest for desertion. Rojas is in town. I think I was followed to this hotel. The priest has betrayed me or has been stopped. Mercedes is here alone, waiting, absolutely dependent upon me to save her from—"

"She's the sweetest, loveliest girl! . . . In a few moments—sooner, or later there'll be hell here! Dick, are you with me?"

Dick Gale drew a long, deep breath. A coldness, a lethargy, and indifference had been weighed upon him for months had passed out of his being. On the instant he could not speak, but his hand closed powerfully upon his friend's. Thorne's face changed wonderfully, the distress, the fear, the agonies all vanishing in a smile of passionate gratefulness.

Then Dick's gaze attracted by some slight sound, shot over his friend's shoulder to see a face at the window—a handsome, bold, sneering face, with glittering dark eyes that flashed in sinister intentness.

Dick stiffened in his seat. Thorne, with sudden clenching of hands, wheeled toward the window.

"Rojas!" he whispered.

CHAPTER II

Mercedes Castaneda. The dark face vanished. Dick Gale heard footsteps and the thud of stairs. He strode to the window, and was in time to see a Mexican swing into the front door of the saloon. There were men passing in the street, also several Mexicans lounging against the hitching rail at the curb. "Did you see him? Where did he go?" whispered Thorne, as he joined Gale. "Those Greasers out there with the cartridge belts crossed over their breasts—they are rebels. I'm afraid Rojas has the house spotted."

"If we could only be sure."

"The sure, Dick. Let's cross the hall; I want to see how it looks from the other side of the house."

Gale followed Thorne out of the restaurant into the high-ceilinged corridor which evidently divided the hotel, opening into the street and running back to a patio. A few dim, yellow lamps flickered. Thorne entered a Hugo chamber which was even more poorly lighted from the hall. It contained a table littered with papers, a few high-backed chairs, a couple of couches, and was evidently a parlor.

"Mercedes has been meeting me here," said Thorne. "At this hour she comes every moment or so to the head of the stairs there, and if I am here she comes down. Mostly she is people in this room a little later. We go out into the plaza. It faces the dark side of the house, and that's the place I must slip out with her if there's any chance at all to get away."

They peered out of the open window. In a moment, however, Gale made out a slow-pacing dark form on the path. Farther down there was another. No particular keenness was required to see in these forms a semi-animal-like stealthiness.

Grapping Gale's arm, Thorne pulled back from the window.

"You saw them," he whispored. "It's just as I feared. Rojas is the place surrounded. I should have taken Mercedes away. But I had no time—no chance! I'm bound! . . . There's Mercedes now! My G-d!"

Dick, think—think if there's a way to get her out of this trap!"

Gale turned as his friend went down the room. In the dim light he saw the slim, muffled figure of a woman. When she saw went out.

In the corridor Gale stopped long enough to pull on a pair of heavy gloves, to muss his hair, and disarrange his collar. Then he stepped into the restaurant, went through, and entered in the deep leading into the saloon. No one appeared to notice him. Gale's roving glance soon fixed upon the man he took to be Rojas. The Mexican's face was turned aside. He was in earnest, excited colloquy with a dozen or more comrades; most of whom were sitting round a table. They were listening, talking, drinking.

"My darling! For God's sake don't faint! Don't go to pieces! We'll be lost! We've got a chance. Well think of something. Be strong! Fight!"

It was plain to Gale that Thorne was distressed. He scarcely knew what he was saying. Pale and shaking, he clasped Mercedes to him.

"She cried out in Spanish, releasing him; and as he shook his head, she changed to English:

"Sonar, my lover, I will be strong—I will fight—I will obey. But swear by my Virgin, if need be to save me from Rojas—you will kill me!"

"Mercerita! Yes, I'll swear," he replied, hoarsely. "I know—I'd rather have you dead than—But don't give up. Rojas can't be sure of you, or he wouldn't wait. He's in there. He's got his men there—all around us. But he hesitates. A bout like Rojas doesn't stand idle for nothing. I tell you we've a chance. Dick, here, will think of something. We'll slip away. Then he'll take you somewhere. Only—spoil him—show him you won't weaken. Mercedes, this is more than love and happiness for us. It's life or death."

She became quiet, and slowly recovered control of herself. She wheeled to face Gale with proud dark eyes, tragic sweetness of appeal, an exquisite grace.

"Sonar, you are an American. You cannot know the Spanish blood—the poor bandit's hate and cruelty. I wish to die before Rojas' hand touches me. If he takes me alive, then the hour, the little day that my life lasts afterward will be torture—torture of hell. If I live two days his brutal men will have me. If I live three, he dogs of his camp . . . Sonar, have you a sister whom you love? Help Sonar Thorne to save me. He is a soldier. He is bound. He must not betray his honor, his duty, for me . . . Now, let me waste no more precious time. I am ready. I will be brave."

She came close to Gale, holding out her white hands, a woman all fire and soul and passion. To Gale she was wonderful. His heart leaped. As he bent over her hands and kissed them, he seemed to feel himself renewed, reborn.

"Sonerita," he said, "I am happy to be your servant. I can conceive of no greater pleasure than giving the service you require."

"And what is that?" inquired Thorne hurriedly.

"That of incapacitating Sonar Rojas for tonight, and perhaps several nights to come," replied Gale. "I'll make a row in that saloon. I'll start something. I'll rush Rojas and his crowd. Tilt—"

"Lord, no, you trash! Dick—you'll be knifed!" cried Thorne.

"I'll take a chance. Maybe I can surprise that fellow. Gosh! I must get away before they know what's happened . . . You be really watching at the window. When the row starts those fellows out there in the plaza will run into the saloon. Then you slip out, go straight through the plaza down the street. It's a dark street, I remember. I'll catch up with you before you get far."

Thorne gasped, but did not say a word. Mercedes leaned against him, her white hands now at her breast, her great eyes watching Gale as he spoke.

"Sonar, Gule—ah! I cannot speak my happiness. His friend!"

"Yes, Mercedes; my friend and yours," said Thorne, speaking rapidly. "We'll have need of him. Dear, there's bad news and no time to break it gently. The priest did not come. He must have been detained. And listen—he is brave, dear Mercedes. Rojas is here."

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

WHO KILLED RUDOLF OF AUSTRIA?

The proverbial "luck of the Hapsburgs"—a synonym for ill fortune rather than good—manifested itself in a number of ways during the long reign of Francis-Joseph, late emperor of Austria-Hungary, but none of the occurrences were more startling or mysterious than those connected with the sudden death of Rudolf, crown prince of the realm and favorite son of Francis-Joseph.

Mirrored to the Princess Sophie, daughter of Leopold II, King of the Belgians, Rudolf was far from happy in his marital relations, and comparatively short time had elapsed after his marriage when he attempted to induce his wife to secure a divorce in order that he might marry Maria Vetsera, a beautiful young actress with whom he was madly in love. Francis-Joseph, however, sternly forbade all thought of divorce and, Rudolf announced that he was prepared to renounce all his titles and marry the Baroness Vetsera in spite of parental objections. This was recalled vividly when, only a few months later, there occurred the "Meyendorff tragedy."

Late in January, 1889, Rudolf attended a gay house party at the castle of Meyendorff, some twelve miles from Vienna. Among the guests was the Baroness Maria Vetsera and gossip concerning her affair with the crown prince ran high, finally breaking with a clash when, on the morning of January 30, Rudolf's valet unrolled his master's bed chamber and found the crown prince dead and, besides him, the body of the beautiful actress.

The first official report stated that the crown prince had died of apoplexy but, as his rugged physique and exceptional health were well known throughout the court circles of Europe, this statement was received with a smile and much shrugging of shoulders. Following this, there came a flood of rumors and supposedly "authentic" accounts of the tragedy, some of which stated that the baroness had killed herself in despair and that Rudolf had committed suicide when he found her body, others telling of an alleged suicide pact between the lovers and still others hinting at complicity on the part of certain court officials who had been instructed to put a stop to the intimacy between the baroness and the crown prince "at any cost."

A fourth story, which gained considerable credence on the continent, was connected with a former fiancee of the baroness, whom she had discarded in favor of Prince Rudolf. This personage, whose name was freely mentioned, was known to have been in the vicinity of Meyendorff castle on the night of the tragedy, and the report was that he had secured admittance to the apartments of the prince by bribing several of the servants, and had shot both Rudolf and the baroness, his escape before the double murder was discovered.

Still another angle to the whole affair appeared several years later when the former crown prince and the baroness were reported to have been seen in the United States, and it was freely hinted that news of their deaths had been given to the world in order to cover a scandal which would have shaken the throne of Austria and imperiled the friendship then existing between that country and Belgium. That this version of the tragedy is not as wild as it appears is evident from the fact that one of the foremost encyclopedias states that the crown prince is believed to have died, probably by his own hand, at the castle of Meyendorff.

But, the entire affair—whether double murder, a suicide pact or an attempt to cover a scandal—is only one of the many tragedies which made their appearance during the reign of Francis-Joseph, tragedies which included his unhappy marriage with the Princess Elizabeth of Bavaria; the execution of his brother, the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico; the mysterious disappearance of the Grand Duke Joaquin Salvador; the murder of the Empress Elizabeth at Geneva; and the assassination of the heir to the throne, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife, the final tragedy which led to the greatest of all—the World war and the subsequent partition of the kingdom.

Something to Consider.
"Always remember, my boy," said the man who was fond of giving advice, "that Gatsby, having made up his mind, went ahead. He crossed the Rubicon."

"I know," the boy replied, "but the way he dressed there wasn't any danger of gettin' his pants wet!"
